Automobile Association Improving Slide Road

Following the refusal of the government to do anything in the way of bettering the highway over the Frank slide, the local automobile association has taken the matter up, with the result that within another two or three weeks a great improvement will have been effected to this much-traversed highway.

A subscription committee has been appointed to approach all the leading representatives of mining and business establishments, as well as owners of automobiles and motor vehicles who have occasion to make use of this highway, and we learn that the appeal has met with the most liberal response.

On Tuesday of last week the work of grading was commenced, when a gang of men with teams were set to work. The bed of the road will be filled in with ashes and limestone, material that will in a short time become cemented and form an ideal road-bed. Several immense boulders which have long obstructed the highway at various corners will be removed by the application of dynamite, while in some places curves will be avoided by a new routing of the road.

It is expected that the work will occupy about three weeks to complete, and when finished will compare favorably with the rest of the road through the Pass.

It is understood that the appeal of the people of the Pass for the building of a better road through the slide was turned down by the government. The government declared that they would do nothing with the slide road this year. Monies are being expended all over the province, but in no case is such as necessary as on the Frank slide. During the present season the traffic has been about double that of any season for the past seven years, and how such a narrow, crooked and treacherous thoroughfare is accommodating such a vast amount of traffic with few or no accidents is a marvel.

The Crows' Nest Pass as a manufacturing and mining district is today the most important section of the Province, and that the governments are lacking in their interest in our main highway and thus courting a peril over the heads of our people is a matter which calls for general reprobation.

The efforts of those who have taken the matter up are made in the interest of the general public and deserve the support of everyone who has the best interests of the Pass at heart.

THE BEST MEDICINE IN THE WORLD

Child is Kicked by a Horse

Robbie Thompson, eldest child of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Thompson, was victim of a kick from a horse on Dominion Day, which came near resulting fatally. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and children were driving to Burnin, where they purposed attending the joint Sunday school picnic. When near Burnin the reins caused the horse to kick, one of the hoofs coming over the dashboard and hitting the little boy on the jaw. The parents feared at first that the child was killed, but after being removed from the rig to the grass and efforts made for resuscitation the child recovered consciousness in a few minutes. He was immediately rushed to the surgery of Dr. Bell at Passburg, who after an examination of the injuries advised that he be taken at once to the Frank hospital. According to last reports the boy is doing well, although not yet out of danger.

Jury Verdict re Death Of James W. Mead

The inquest into the death of James W. Mead, who was electrocuted at Bellevue last week, was held at the police barracks, Bellevue, on Thursday afternoon, June 26th, before Coroner Pinkney. The following verdict was returned:

"That death was accidental, caused by electric shock."

"According to the evidence given we are under the impression that had the defective part of the machine been repaired when first reported by the engineer the accident might have been avoided."

"We also add as a rider that in future the master-mechanic shall have full control and report on same as called for in the coal mines act."

The Glorious Twelfth

Next Friday will be the anniversary of King William's victory in the Battle of the Boyne, and ye men of Orange will celebrate in right royal style by holding a picnic and sports in Blairmore.

The grounds are being arranged and will be layed out to accommodate several thousand people. A special excursion train will arrive from Lethbridge and intermediate points about 10 a. m., on which it is expected some 1500 people will come up to enjoy a day in the Pass Metropolis. Besides those from eastern points large numbers will be in attendance from all points west as far as Fernie and Cranbrook. Special sports have been arranged for and a liberal list of prizes will be awarded. The Bellevue band and also the Lethbridge fife and drum corps will be in attendance and dispense musical strains. At night there will be fireworks demonstration and last but not least a grand ball at the opera house.

Everyone are bent on having a good time and there will be no reason for complaint from the visitors if the weather is at all favorable.

Terrible Drowning Fatality at Edmonton

A terrible fatality occurred on the Saskatchewan river near Edmonton about 9 o'clock on Thursday evening last, when six persons met their fate in the whirling waters through the wrecking of a gasoline launch.

The victims included R. Case Hooper, manager of the Marshall-Wells Alberta Hardware Company, and Mrs. Hooper; Earl Meredith, superintendent of the shipping department of the same firm, and Mrs. Meredith; Mrs. Everett Case, wife of Manager of the Imperial Bank of Canada, and Robert Patton who operated the launch at the time of the accident.

The only survivor of the party was Everett J. Case, who was rescued after making a heroic effort to save his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Meredith were bride and groom of but three weeks ago, while Mr. and Mrs. Case were only two months married.

Robert Patton, the mechanic, was a son of J. B. Patton, engineer with West Canadian Collieries at Blairmore. Word was immediately sent to Blairmore after the accident that Robert Patton was among the victims. Although doubting the veracity of the report at first, further enquiry revealed the story to be only too true.

Up to the present all efforts to locate the bodies of the victims have proved futile, and it is thought that they may have been drawn by the under current into some of the large sandholes, from which there is a probability they may never rise.

The accident was caused by the launch striking a hidden boom which pierced two large holes in the side. Case was rescued from the upturned launch while drifting down the river.

Hundreds of people on the river banks watched the fearful spectacle, but were powerless to lend assistance.

On Sunday afternoon Emil Wahl, aged 28, was also drowned in the Saskatchewan while searching for the bodies of the six victims of the ill-fated launch party of Thursday. He was caught by a cable used for hauling up gravel and pulled out of the boat. His comrades were unable to rescue him owing to the rapidity of the current. For a time he hung on to the cable and hundreds were attracted by his pitiful cries, but no assistance could reach him, he dropped off and was seen no more.

cater to the needs of the visitors and will convert the new Rose building into a dining room for that day. The room is about 30 x 90 feet and the spread will be sufficient to accommodate about 150 persons at a sitting. Wholesale meals and lunches will be served during the day. The ladies will also conduct a fruit and ice-cream stall on the picnic grounds. The proceeds will go towards the new church building fund.

Blairmore, Alta., Fri., July 4, 1913

No longer is it true that "A rolling stone gathers no moss."

The removal of a "sport" from a Bellevue hotel to the depot

on Dominion Day was the means of gathering quite a quantity.

A well-known Blairmoreite displayed poor principle at Bellevue on Dominion Day by enquiring the price of a dinner at one hotel and going to the next because such information

was refused him on the grounds that everyone were receiving equal treatment.

We leave it to any person

with a meagre sense of reason to figure out the wisdom of the Bellevue sports officials in sending their printing patronage to Ferne, British Columbia, and expecting local support. They did not derive one iota directly from Ferne, and as a result of their foolishness

lost over and over the value of their imported printing because their data was decorated with the foreign imprint. We can quote many people of the district who became so disgusted

when this fact was brought to their notice that not one of them left a cent with the boosters of the Bellevue sports.

Tallest Cop in West

Was Found Dead

Regina, July 2—John Johnstone, the tallest policeman in Canada was found dead on his beat at an early hour on Sunday morning. Brain trouble was evidently the cause of death. Deceased stood six feet eight inches in his stockings and was but 21 years of age. He arrived from Londonderry, Ireland, just one month

previously.

Utilizing Wood Waste

Perhaps the most interesting development in the manufacture of wood products has arisen in the increasing variety of uses to which wood waste can be put. Beginning in the forest the closer utilization of the various wood products can be traced through the saw-mills and large wood-working industries, right down to the firms working only on small specialized lines.

It is now commercially possible to reduce the fifty to sixty per cent

waste formerly left in the woods by the lumberman to no more than 5 per cent, by a combination of three well-developed chemical industries,

namely, paper making, wood distillation (in a modified form) and the manufacture of resin oils. Practically all the valuable constituents

from the stumps, tops, branches and defective stems which would otherwise be left to rot in the forest are thus converted into useful commodities.

The utilization of mill waste is being made increasingly possible by the developing markets for odd and short lengths in lumber (instead of few assorted sizes). Many saw mills use their waste products in the manufacture of laths, mouldings, planks,

roller-blinds and paving-blocks.

The manufacture of wood-pulp from the small waste-wood now being fed to the burner is also a commercial possibility. Even saw-dust has its uses, and in countries where more intensive utilization prevails it is being successfully manufactured into a variety of products. Several plants have been erected in this country for its manufacture into ethyl (or grain) alcohol, sugar and briquets

for fuel.

The bulletins now being issued by the Forestry Branch, Ottawa, on The Wood-Using Industries of Ontario, throws considerably light on the utilization of wood waste. Each and every factor will see their share

and triangle for the manufacture of boxes, baskets, bobbins,

bullet-moulds, insulator pins, novelties,

skewers, splinters, spools, stakes and wooden ware. They take their common sawdust and sell it for floor covering for the manufacture of composition novelties, and for cleaning saw-ware. They sell shavings for bedding, packing and for drying wet land. Hickory and other hardwood dust is sold for smoking pipes. In fact, just as the pork packers boast of using all a pig but the "apical,"

so wood manufacturers will soon be able to boast of using all the wood has the bark and even that, in the case of some woods, such as hemlock,

is of considerable value.

SURPRISING CURE OF STOMACH TROUBLE

When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation,

don't imagine that your case is beyond help just because your doctor fails to give you relief. Mrs. G. S. Stangle,

Plainfield, N. J., writes, "For years

smooth past I have been troubled with my stomach. Everything I ate upset

it terribly. One of Chamberlain's advertising booklets came to me. After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them and can now eat almost everything that I want." For sale by all dealers.

The second meeting of the Bellevue Order of Owls was held on Sunday night in the Eagles' Hall.

Forty candidates were initiated and are now full-fledged wide-awake Owls. The election of officers will take place next meeting

to be held on the night of July 20th.

A grand dance was given in the Socialist hall on Tuesday night

under the auspices of the Bellevue

Bachelors' Forward movement.

The attendance was large and the affair most enjoyable. Much credit is due Mrs. Callan, through whose energies the affair was made a success.

The Uplift

A noted English parliamentarian tossed back his thick white mane of hair, stroked his white beard and said in a broad Scotch accent to a New York reporter:

The rise in the world of wages has been great, but the rise in the world of prices has been greater. We have had progress, but it has been progress in the wrong direction.

A tourist was travelling in your Far West. As he inspected an Indian encampment he said to his cowboy guide:

And are these Indians progressing? "Better life, the cowboy answered, taking a fresh chew of tobacco. "Better life they're progressing. All their medicine men are patent medicine men now.

As a vermifuge there is nothing so potent as Mother Gray's Worm Expeller, and it can be given to the most delicate child without fear of injury to the constitution.

Look here, Mr. Editor, exclaimed an eager caller, you referred to me yesterday as a reformed drunkard. You must apologize, or I'll sue your paper for libel.

Very well, sir, replied the editor. I'll retract the statement cheerfully. I'll say you haven't reformed.

False Economy

The manager of the senior partner was to find a berth for that son of his. He says he doesn't expect the house to pay him anything—so there'll be a saving here.

The superintendent: "I don't see it. Of course we'll have to hire a man to do the work."

Lady-Why, you naughty boy, I never heard such language since the day I was born.

Small Boy—Yes, mum; I suppose there was a good deal of cussin' do day you was born.

Brown—The facial features plainly indicate character and disposition. In selecting your wife, were you governed by her hair?

Jones—No; but I have been ever since we married.

A Fighting Parson

Mr. Dyke Wilkinson, in his book "Through Roads," tells the following story of an anti-gipsy fighter, who became a parson.

In some corner of the railway carriage sat a thick-set, bullet-headed individual, the very type of a Birmingham bruiser, whom one might easily have taken him to be worth it for his clerical dress—the black broad-brimmed suit of the regulation cut and the orthodox white choiker. He had quietly escorted himself in one of the corners, taking not the slightest notice of any of his fellow-travellers, excepting perhaps just to turn up the collar of his rather striking vest when occasionally the language of two of the travellers became very violent and unbecomingly indecent.

Now these two men were in a fairly good position in the town they came from, and they would have considered themselves insulted to have been classed with the common roughs, who being a prosperous shopkeeper and the other a well-known master. The latter was known also as a terrible bully, especially when it happened on the present occasion, he was exulting with an extra glass or two and had the reputation of being very useful with his fists.

No sooner was the clergyman asleep or apparently so, than they began playing practical jokes on him. Whereupon suddenly the reverend gentleman, who had been sitting cross-legged at the same time tightly closed his immense eyes, and like a flash of lightning, his left hand gripped the nose of the green-grocer, and at the same instant his right seriously disfigured a useful but not prominent organ of the malingerer, and then followed a perfect storm of blows. To defend themselves was the lot of the question; they were no sooner on their feet than they were sent sprawling again as with a sledge hammer.

My travelling companions, seemed struck with amazement, but to my great surprise, they did not intervene. Indeed, I felt certain I knew what would happen when these practical jokes commenced, for I had recognised in the clergyman my old friend, the invincible Birmingham pug, Morris Roberts, who at that time had one of his preaching fits on.

Mountains Resemble Women

Mountains might easily be compared with women. They are at times in various, they attract, they repel, they take savage delight in coldly repelling the advances of their admirers. They are sometimes so beautiful that both men and women are overcome by their beauty. They are sometimes so ugly that they are repulsive. They are sometimes so kind that they are loved. They are sometimes so cruel that they are feared. They are sometimes so wise that they are respected. They are sometimes so foolish that they are laughed at. They are sometimes so brave that they are admired. They are sometimes so cowardly that they are despised. They are sometimes so generous that they are praised. They are sometimes so selfish that they are blamed. They are sometimes so kind that they are loved. They are sometimes so cruel that they are feared. They are sometimes so wise that they are respected. They are sometimes so foolish that they are laughed at. They are sometimes so brave that they are admired. They are sometimes so cowardly that they are despised. They are sometimes so generous that they are praised. They are sometimes so selfish that they are blamed.

Thoughtful Jane

Twenty minutes for refreshment bewailed the conductor as he passed down the aisle.

A little girl with raspberry jam on her chin pleaded him by the sleeve. You need not stop the train on account, she said timidly. We are going to see our cousin right in the car.

One day little Laura came into the kitchen and found her mother washing her face.

After watching her a moment Laura said: Oh, grandma, please let me help you wash the face.

Absent-Minded

Nellie (calling to her sister)—I'm going to make you some mince, Mary. Where is the squarer?

Mary (in a crouching position)—The squarer? Oh, he's just arrived yet, but I'm expecting him any minute.

Lord Lytton was seated one day at dinner next to a lady whose name was Birch, and who, tradition says, was beautiful. If not over-intelligent, she said to his Excellency:

Are you acquainted with any of the Birch family?

Replied his Excellency—Oh, yes, I knew some of them when I was in the bush at Eton. Indeed, more intimately than I cared for.

Sir, replied the lady, you forget that the Birches are relatives of mine.

And yet they cut me, said the Vicar. But, and he smiled his wonted smile, I have never felt more inclined to kiss the rod than I do now.

Mrs. Birch said to her sister, she said the point, and so the squarer had it, told her husband that his Excellency had insulted her.

A young woman failed to pass her examination for appointment as teacher in the public school of a small town.

Her mother was terribly disappointed and decided to interview one of the examiners.

I am sorry, madam, the man said, that your daughter did not pass her examination, but there is nothing I can do to about it. You know that no one is to blame but herself.

She to blame! exclaimed the woman wrathfully. Well, sir, perhaps you don't know that your examiners asked her questions about the things that happened years and years before she was born.

Of an old Scottish reporter in attendance at one of Lord Rosebery's meetings, this incident is told: Lord Rosebery was very silent as he approached his peroration, and the meeting, under the glimmer of his eloquence, seemed to be in a state of suspense. All at once a drop of moisture detached itself from the bald head of the old reporter. What's that? quipped he, and he looked at the audience. The audience burst into a roar of laughter that it was some time before the noble lord could proceed. This story affords an illustration of the indifference to the most exalted flights of our political orators which Canadian society often breeds in the aid and sustained reporter.

Coal Courage

A tiger belonging to the King of Oude escaped one night not long ago from the menagerie bounding the Hoofy, across the river and entered the Botanical Gardens at Roubaix.

Early the next morning two gentlemen, one of whom I know, strolled into the garden. When turning a clump of palms the tiger sprang upon one of them, planted his foot on the ground and leaped into the air. His companion rushed up to the animal, caught him by both ears, and kicked him. Recovering his senses, and realising the futility of his action, he slowly backed from the scene, and when some bushes intervened, ran to the curator's house, seized a gun and on returning to the spot found the victim still lying, his unconscious victim. He then realised that the weapon was only a fire which at even a short distance meant possible death to his friend without killing the tiger. He waited straight up to the animal, put the gun to his brain, and shot it dead.

THE BIRD AND TREES

Tree Life Depends on Protection of Insect-Eating Birds

Each woodpecker in the United States is worth its weight in gold, and its value is estimated on the value of the good that this bird does to trees, says the Manchester Union. Other birds are worth sums proportionate to the good that they do. The nuthatch creeps and chatters are worth much in varying with the locality and the condition of trees and crops. The downy woodpecker is said to be worth much in the case of the codling moth, an insect that damages our apple crops to an extent of $1,000,000.

In the war between the insects and the trees millions of dollars are being spent each year by tree owners to protect their trees. Insects have increased so rapidly in the last years that their trees must be protected. The local insecticide is a deadly poison, and the bird insects; elms are sprayed in order to kill the insect bees, while, hoppers are slaughtering the hickories.

DOCTOR SAID HE HAD DIABETES

DOOD'S KIDNEY PILLS CLEARED OUT EVERY TRACE OF IT

That's why Mr. David Heon, of Montreal, Quebec, is a man of many thanks to St. Wenceslas, Nicolet Co., Que. (Special)—"I started to take Dood's Kidney Pills because my doctor told me I was threatened with diabetes. After taking ten boxes I was again cured of the disease, and he told me that all trace of diabetes had disappeared."

This is the statement of Mr. David Heon, well-known and highly respected here, and he is only one of many who have cured their diabetes by Dood's Kidney Pills. Heon, who has been a member of the St. Wenceslas, Nicolet Co., Que. since 1884, has been a member of the St. Wenceslas, Nicolet Co., Que. since 1884, and he is only one of many who have cured their diabetes by Dood's Kidney Pills.

Her Predicament

Sarah, a woman narrating reminiscences of the stage to a group of friends, says, you call them, she said, laughing. Well, I received a very funny mail once in a small town of your Far West.

Yes, said the group, and she said, and I'd have preferred to send you orchid, but in such a small town, which I had reduced to molasses candy, of which I am forwarding a two-pound bag. Will you take up my orchid, and I'll send you a box of molasses candy, of which I am forwarding a two-pound bag.

The Triangle

Paw! Well, George, do you have winter in the Arctic regions? Yes, said the group, and she said, and I'd have preferred to send you orchid, but in such a small town, which I had reduced to molasses candy, of which I am forwarding a two-pound bag.

Look at the Clock

He would sometimes return home late at night, after his better half had retired, and he would wonder, as he looked at the clock, what time it was. Indeed, he would wonder, as he looked at the clock, what time it was.

One night, instead of making the usual inquiry, he said: I wish you would stop that clock, I cannot sleep for the noise.

All unresponsive he stopped the pendulum.

On the morning, while dressing, his wife inquired after his sleep. By the way, what time is it? he asked. About midnight, replied the errand boy.

He looked at the clock, and he was surprised to find that it was only ten o'clock. He looked at the clock, and he was surprised to find that it was only ten o'clock.

Table Conventions

A certain wealthy lady celebrated her birthday by inviting some of her old country villagers to dinner with her. They were all right as long as the soup was just soup, but when a footman appeared on the left, holding out a plate with chips of toast on it, she said:

One old man scratched his head in perplexity, until a light dawned on his mind.

Here, my lad, if the wantest some of my soup, they can have it, he said, and handed a spoonful on to the guest.

Keep Minard's Liniment in the house

Conscription, which is now causing heated discussion in Europe, is a modern form of the old (as it existed in Rome) was born in France in 1798. Between that year and 1713 over five million men were thus levied for the army of France. Kendal is trying hard to understand the meaning of the word, which some local politicians contend means merely an old vicious system under which a rich citizen could buy himself out and another might escape if lucky enough to draw a blank. But France has long been a republic, and we still call it "conscription" which literally means the keeping of a register.

Brilliant Prospects

That's a wonderfully smart child of yours. Well, replied Mr. Blignin, modestly. I don't know whether he is very smart now. But if he ever finds the answers to all the questions he asks he will be a world-beater.

Victor—What are you in here for? Prisoner—For charity. Victor—Non-sense! Prisoner—Not at all, sir. Imagination is the sincerest form of flattery. I am here just imitating another man's signature.

Some women go in for the high brow pose, while others prefer the low neck.

The poet's lay may be all right. To some it seems a crime. To some it seems a virtue. The hen's lay every time.

Chatty Walter (glancing out of window)—The rain'll be here in a minute or two, say. Poor fellow, I didn't order it. I'm waiting for a chop.

The Solar Plexus a Great Nerve Centre

With the single exception of the brain itself, the solar plexus is the most important nerve centre in the human body.

Situated just back of the stomach and close to the spinal cord, the solar plexus supplies the motor nerves to the vital organs. Injury to or weakness of the solar plexus consequently means weakness of the vital organs of the body. This explains why a blow which reaches the solar plexus means helplessness to the person receiving it.

These nerves, enters all demand as they pass through the solar plexus, and, failing to get this, the nerve cells are starved and depleted, and fail to supply vital energy to the digestive and eliminatory organs.

The insecurity with which some local clerics can tie a knot is demonstrated by a case which occurred at Bellevue recently. Inside of two weeks after the tie that cannot be severed except by death, was tied the happy (?) bride had left her life (?) partner and decided to remain another while beside mother's apron strings.

Jack Boyat and Stence Lyon attended the bartenders picnic at Crows' Nest on Sunday. They report an abundance of moisture at the Great Divide on Monday, although the sun did not permit of any rain precipitation. About one hundred bartenders from points as far east as Medicine Hat assembled around the Nest and made merry.

Fatal Accident at Williamsdale N.S.

J. Edgar Johnson of Hillcrest, who was spending a few days at his old home in Williamsdale, was about to leave for the West again when he met with an accident resulting fatally.

He with some friends started for a visit to the haunts of his young days making use of a team. On arriving at the edge of a wood they left the horse and went the rest of the way on foot. In returning they found the horse loose and in attempting to catch the beast Mr. Johnson received a kick in the pit of the stomach.

Seeing he was badly hurt, friends got him to his home at Mr. Richard Weatherbee's and Dr. Salter was summoned. He called another doctor and an operation was made. On examination the liver was found to be ruptured and a rent in one of the intestines two inches long was discovered. His injuries were attended as best as they could be under the circumstances, but death relieved him of his terrible sufferings on Tuesday morning at about 9 o'clock.

Mr. Johnson's wife died in August last and he had brought the two younger children home to be educated and was ready to return this week had not such a sad accident occurred.—Oxford Journal, June 19.

[Mr. Johnson was well known throughout the Crows' Nest Pass. His wife died suddenly at Hillcrest last August, and was buried in the Blairmore cemetery.]

C. Roy, W. and A. Howe, D. Dunlop, W. McKee, J. Clark and S. Patterson, who were attending the military camp at Calgary, returned to town on Sunday.

MOOSE JAW!

The Railroad Hub of Saskatchewan

Within 10 months the Railroad Payroll of Moose Jaw will, alone, be more than HALF A MILLION DOLLARS MONTHLY distributed among over four thousand employees—now there are three thousand who receive over $300,000.00 per month at the local pay office of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which doesn't in any way include the Grand Trunk Pacific Railroad which is putting Three Million Dollars into Moose Jaw terminals and the Canadian Northern Railroad, which is to put in one of its largest division points—together they will employ over 2,000 men.

MOOSE JAW

is the great railway centre of the Province—300 miles east of Calgary and 400 miles west of Winnipeg, is the grand divisional point of the Province for both the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Soo line. The shops are so complete that any repair of any kind can be made to passenger car, freight car or locomotive. Moose Jaw now has the second largest individually owned Railroad Yards in the whole world, and has a 30-stalled round-house.

The Canadian Government

has just given Moose Jaw the great

Two Million Dollar Wheat Elevator

the only one to be put in in the Province; which proves Moose Jaw is the recognized center of the wheat district.

The Largest Linseed Oil Mill in the World is now in course of construction at Moose Jaw—which proves it is the center of the Flax district—this mill is to cost $750,000.00. There is today a Greater Manufacture for Export

at Moose Jaw than in all the rest of the cities and towns of the Province combined. It is therefore the MANUFACTURING CENTER of the central prairies. It now has the four big Canadian Railroads, which will have very shortly—13 distinct Railway outlets.

A REAL RAILROAD CENTER

It is a recognized fact that Real Estate Values are 30 to 50 per cent. lower at Moose Jaw than in any other city of the same population in all of Western Canada. The building already projected for this year is greater than that of Winnipeg—$7,522,000.00. The Government is spending $2,322,000.00 on public buildings. The man who possesses any foresight at all, should be able to see that the near future will see great development in Moose Jaw. True, the present condition of the world money market holds things back to some extent but with the large payroll of over $500,000.00 per month Moose Jaw will keep right on going, and when the present stringency lets go, values at Moose Jaw will double in a night. Its greatest developments have taken place in the midst of the hard times—at a time when a boom is impossible—but these great developments must have their weight and the advance in values will be that much more rapid when once they start. Don't be a quitter. Don't get the idea, that because conditions are slow just now, that they will remain so. The pessimist says, "Canada will never be what it has been." ROT—NONSENSE—RUBBISH. This is not a case of Canadian stagnation; it is a stagnation of the world, caused by very extraordinary conditions that happened to fall in a body. You may depress THE WORLD for awhile, but it always comes back stronger in the end. This same condition has obtained many times and in a short period conditions in general have recovered their equilibrium and been even better than they were previous to the slow down. The immigration to Canada is increasing every year. There is not a year in the last ten years that has not seen a greater immigration to Canada than was that of the previous year, 1913 is no exception. Canada will get nearly double the number of new settlers this year that it got for 1912.

Moose Jaw has Grown from

1,558 to 35,117

population in ten years, and from 28,000 to 35,117 since September 1912. Its wonderful developments now taking place have increased the population 25 per cent. in eight months—that will it do when the better times, that must come soon, show up?

Don't Be a Pessimist

Take advantage of the low prices and buy now. Lots you can buy now for $175.00 will sell in one year for $250.00 to $350.00 each.
